WORK ON THE LYNCHBURG, HALIPAX AND DURHAM ROAD.

Pushing It All Along the Line—The Contractors—The Tobacco Market, &c.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

South Boston, Va., May 11, 1888.
Your correspondent is glad to report the continued and increased activity in the construction of the Lynchburg, Halifax and Durham railroad all along the line from Lynchburg to South Boston, and at Durham, N. C.

As has been stated in this correspondence, the grading of the road from Lynchburg to Campbell Courthouse has been completed with the exception of a little work to be done on the tunnel at Lynchburg. This will be finished in a few days, and it will not surprise me to hear within the next two or three weeks that the rails for this part of the road have been purchased. I have special reasons for saving this, although I cannot make the assertion positively. I do know, however, that Mr. John Kelly, who has the contract for furnishing ties for the first foundless out of Lynchburg, has received notification to press his work, and he will begin at once delivering the ties.

At Campbel Courthouse Messrs. E. A. Moorman & Co. have taken hold of the next.

Moorman & Co. have taken hold of the next.

Moorman & Co. have taken hold of the next.

Moorman & Co. have taken hold of the next.

At Campbe I Courthouse Messrs, E. A.
Moorman & Co. have taken held of the next ten miles, and are at work upon it. At the end of their ten miles they are met by Messrs.
Surpell & Co., who are actively at work upon a fourteen-mile contract which neets Messrs.
Carrington & Keily at Staunton river, from which point the last-named have the courted to Messrs. Eliason & Co., who are at work. At Haifax Courthouse Messrs, Codwire & Allen are at work on a two-mile contract towards South Boston, and at this place Messrs,
Carrington & Keily are working towards Haifax Courthouse.

Thus it is seen that from Lynchburg to South Boston the road has been graded in great part, while contracts cover all the remaining portion, with work going ou.

At Durham, the southern terminus, a large force of hands is also at work.

There is much complaint in some sections of the county about the lack of tobaccoplants, but there will not probably be any distressing scarcity of them.

There were several circumstances of peculiar interest attending this first conference west of the Alleghames, which was held at a time when the country was but sparsely actiled, and the neighboring mountains were full of wolves, bears, and other wild animals.

During the progress of the meeting held at the time of the conference the beloved and celebrated Madame Russell, a sister of Patrick Henry, was converted.

The general tone of the tobacco market everywhere has been so utterly devoid of any special features that I have not been able to report anything new as to the South Boston market in particular. The very unfavorable weather for handling tobacco during the past month or two has had the effect of making receipts here small until this work, when breaks resumed their usual full condition and all the warehouses have had large sales. Prices are firm, with possibly an upward tendency.
